The size of the crowd can be imagined from the fact that when the head of the line reached Allen street the others had not ceased moving out of Tenth street. When passing the Fourteenth Treeinet station on Fifth street several policemen put their heads out. And inquiry there resulted in the discovery that reserves had been held in readiness. The crowd up to that time had been most orderly.

Word of the coming of the unempleyed had reached Walhalla hall ahead of the crowd, and in the absence of Fleigman, the proprietor, his sons and daughters got ready to defend the place. Thoy first barred the door, and then demanded through the keyhole to know what the crowd wanted.

The reply came back that they wanted to hold a meeting in the hall, but they had no money to pay for its use. They were told they could not have it. Instantly there was a crash of breaking glass—paving stones had been seized from the street. The moment the first pane of glass was smashed, everyone seemed to throw caution to the winds. Anne after ryne of the plateglass went in, and finally the door was also forced.

They had just about settled down to order. business when word of the affair was sent to the Eldridge police station. The sergeant in charge at once called out the reserves section. Thereserves, numbering about 14 men, with Roundsman Colton at their head, started on a double quick run for the scene of disturbance. It was then that the pandemonium broke loose. The son and daughters of the proprietor of the hall insisted that every one of the unemployed men be arrested at once. The roundsman saw that this was impossible, as the hall was black with men. They, however, asked if they wanted the hall cleared. On getting an affirmative reply, a roundsman proceeded to do it. One of the ward detectives was at his side and he attempted to seize a nam who mounted a chair and was in the set of ambient.

debate was resumed.

Mr. Daniels (Rep., N. Y.) spoke in favor of the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. Terror, he said, had taken hold of the public mind that disaster was housed to follow from the accumulation of silver bullion in the trensury. The people had become confident that the law of 1890, which had succeeded the law of 1890, which had succeeded the law of 1878, should be repealed.
